

Wow! You all are killing it! Keep it up! It won't be much longer and I'll have my very own camp! I should name it after you all. Well, maybe not!

Anyway, I wanted to do a little research on camps and see some newsworthy articles about the camp world. If you don't mind, I'm going to send some to you every time I find a good one! Maybe it will help me learn some stuff about other camps before I get mine!

Also, I'm picking and choosing what activities I want for my camp. Every time I come across a fun one, I'll send it your way too. If you see any you really like, let me know!

Well, you all are doing so well, you definitely deserve a break. Here's a deck of cards if you want to play a little game! Enjoy, you totally deserve it! I bought this pack at a little tourist stop in Montana. Quaint little place! Had funny little poems on signs, stuff made from old pallets, and board games! Definitely a Tourist Trap!

PS. While I was driving all over the US looking for a location, I would pass the time by taking pictures of road signs (fun hobby of mine) I'll be sure to send those your way too!

PPS. I keep finding all these pieces of chains. It might be something neat to include in the craft room. Not sure yet. If you think of a good idea, let me know!
